To Parents and Teachers:

Pals and Pets is the second primer of the Christian Liberty Phonics Readers. It gives the students an opportunity to apply the word-attack skills learned in Adventures in Phonics Level A. It is advisable to use Pals and Pets after the child has learned the application of the short vowel rule to words having the short sound of o and e. Frequently reviewing the flashcards for the consonants and short vowel sounds will continue to strengthen the student and help him build confidence and ability in reading.

Apply the same attitudes and timing that you found successful while reading It Is Fun to Read.

Each lesson begins with an introduction page. This should be studied thoroughly before reading the story.

May God bless you with success as well as enjoyment as you fulfill one of the most important responsibilities-teaching your student to read.

This book is written with thanksgiving to the Lord for my precious children's children who are such a joy and blessing from Him.

May each student who completes these lessons be better prepared to glorify God.

See the Duck

Jill and Tim see a duck.
It is on the pond.
It can swim and quack on the pond.
The duck got a big fish.
It got a black bug, too.

The duck is not hot.
See it go up on the mud.
It will not run fast.
It will peck at a plant.

Tim and Jill see the duck go back to the pond and swim.
It is fun to see the duck God made.
